

High Value Results

with Merit & Distinction

Users want a simple way to locate the best doctor for their specific needs and within their healthcare plan. MD Insider provides an experience that does just that.

After validating the application with users, we have identified shortcomings in the current implementation that could benefit from our new insights.

Today, we are proposing a model for returning more specific results, in faster time and with the highest value to users.

Definitions for uncommon termsACL (Anterior Cruciate Ligament)

What is ACL (Anterior Cruciate Ligament) Surgery?

ACL surgery is the surgical reconstruction or replacement of a torn anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) in the knee.

ACL surgery involves using a ligament or tendon (graft) to reconstruct or replace your injured ACL.

In Summary

Low-hanging opportunities

- Quickly find results with the aid of robust auto-suggest tools.
- Bridge the language barrier.
- Real-time faceted filtering.
- Concise messaging.
- Present the best, the top 3-6.

But wait, there's more.

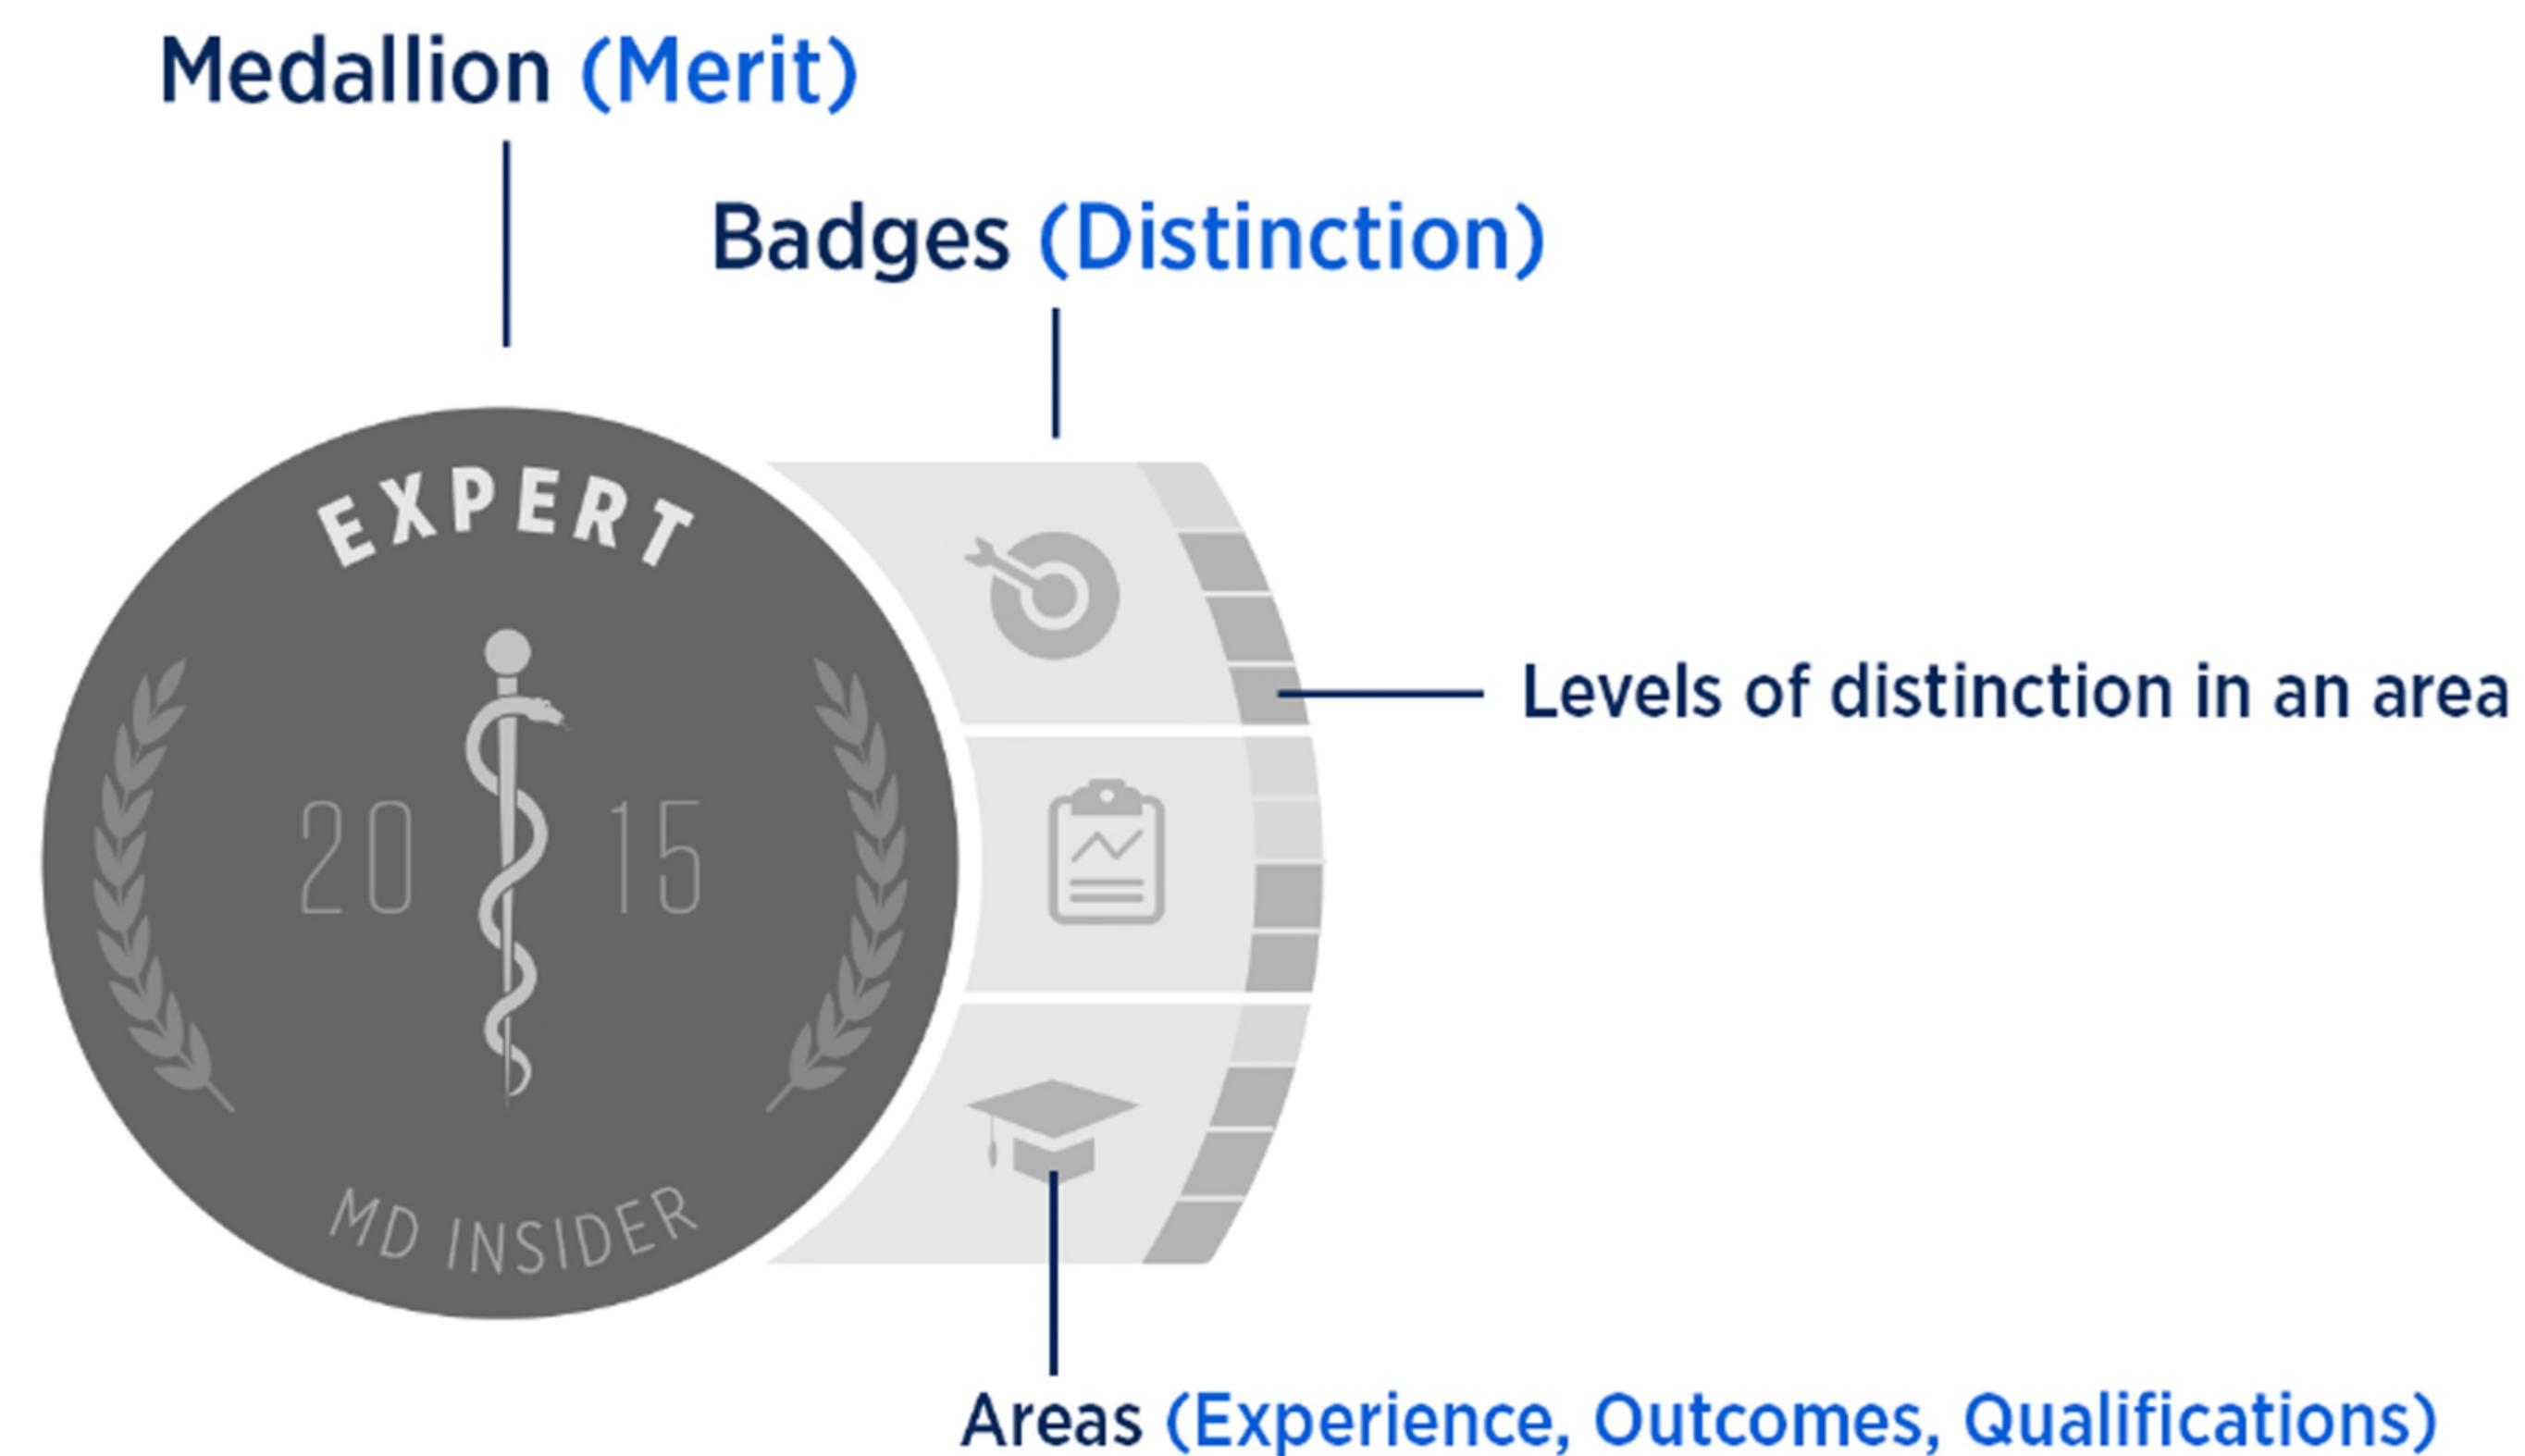

Abstract ranking via score

- Too many scores.
- Single score marginalizes MD Insider value.
- Score perceived as arbitrary.
- Some customers are asking for results without a score.

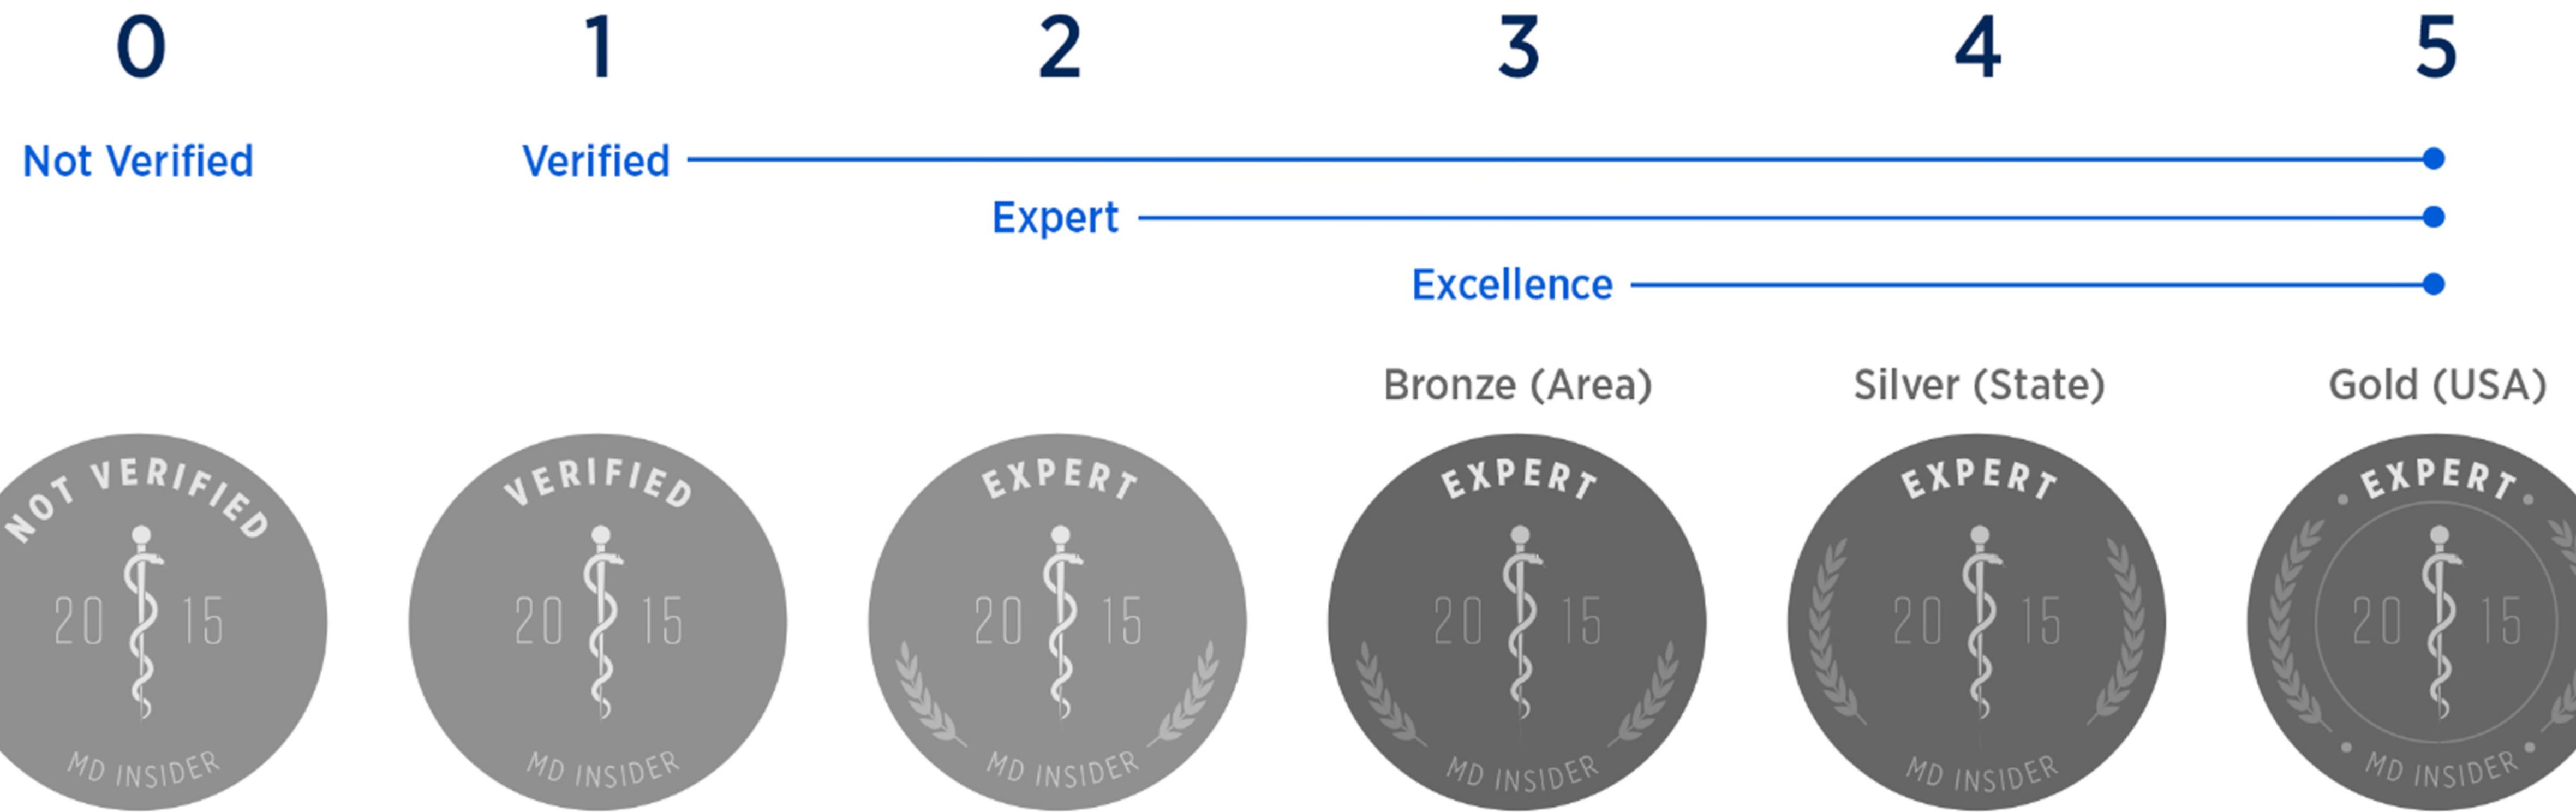

Just rank

- Easily identifiable and quantifiable, at-a-glance.
- Flexible model that shows either score, rank or both.
- When showing score, show one.
- Entice, delight and inform users.

Logic

- Trust is everything.
- Accurate, seamless, and instant results.
- Familiar, timeless visual metaphors.
- Results immediately identifiable.
- More specific a search and filtering, more accurate the recommendation.

Next steps ...

- Stakeholder approval, cheering, and support.
- Validate our proposed model.
- Deep design investigation.
- Validate again.
- Build it.
